

Yoko Inoue
Untitled, AP 2/2, 2006
digital pigment print on paper
22.5 x 18.5 inches (frame dimensions)
$2,500

Through the forces of globalization, everything seems to be for sale today, even natural resources, such as water, which were once considered sacred and a common heritage. Through this series of works, Inoue explores the amorphous border between commodity and spirituality. The artist hopes that the viewer will regain a spiritual understanding of water as the essence of life itself.